

Mr Marko Savić, PhD candidate and teaching assistant at the Faculty of Political Sciences, University of Montenegro. He graduated and received his master's degree from the Faculty of Political Sciences. During his studies, he was the recipient of several scholarships, while he completed research or project stays at Roehampton University in London, Katip Celebi University in Izmir, and the Faculty of Political Sciences in Belgrade. In addition to his academic career, he has worked for many years as a consultant and associate of international, regional and local NGO organizations in the field of strategic planning, public administration reform, capacity building of civil servants, election monitoring and analysis of electoral systems. His main areas of interest are contemporary Russia, Turkey, the Western Balkans, geopolitics and soft power in international relations. The doctoral dissertation entitled "Soft power in contemporary international relations: Comparative analysis of the soft power of Russia and Turkey in the Western Balkans" is in the final stage of preparation. He is the author of several scientific articles and a large number of public policy documents, methodological manuals, studies, etc.

E-mail: markosa@ucg.ac.me

Website: <https://www.ucg.ac.me/radnik/315133-marko-savic>

Orcid: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2311-9808>

The most important publications:

Knežević, Savić, Vukićević, Preserving Peace in a Troubled Region: the Case of Montenegro, Lithuanian Annual Strategic Review, 2021

Savić, Marko, Vukić Martinović, Almedina, Building a community resilient to the Islamic radicalism: A case study of the Muslim community in Montenegro, In: Mihai Dragnea, Adriana Cupcea, Darko Trifunovic, John Nomikos, Joseph Fitsanakis (eds.), The various faces of Islamic radicalization in the Balkans after the fall of Communism, Peter Lang, 2022 (in the final phase of the publishing process)

Vukićević, Boris, Savić, Marko, Turkey and Montenegro: Old foes turned partners, In: Radeljić, Branislav, Özşahin Cüneyt, Mustafa (eds.), Turkey's Return to the Western Balkans: Policies of Continuity and Transformation, Springer, 2022 (in the final phase of the publishing process)

Savic, Marko, National study on the policy co-ordination processes in Montenegro, Regional School of Public Administration (ReSPA), July 2021.

Savic, Marko, European Union in the era of diseased borders. Has the European Union failed to support the „transit“ countries?, Engelberg Academy, Switzerland, October 2018.

Vukicevic, Savic, The Balkans in the Geopolitical Strategies of Great Powers: the Case of Post-independence Montenegro, Sixth International Conference "International Dialogue: East-West", Sveti Nikole, Macedonia, 17-18 April 2015, available on http://mcsp.mk/publications/6_konferencija.html